SECOND VANDERBILT COMING OUT DINNER

DANCE AT THE BREAKERS

Mrs. John H. Hanan Celebrates Birthday by Entertaining Marines at Castlewood.

Special Despatch to THE SUN NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 3 .- Mrs. Cor. nellus Vanderbilt gave another dinner at Beaulieu to-night and it served two purposes, the second entertainment in henor of the coming out of her daughter, Miss Grace Vanderbilt, and as a welcome home to Brig.-Gen. Vanderbilt. her husband, and to Cornelius Vander bilt, Jr. a private in the National Army, both of whom returned from France, Gen Vanderbilt having come from the Gen. Vanderbilt having come from the western front on an important mission for the Government. He was greeted by his many friends of the summer colony and it seemed most opportune that he should reach home in time for the second party in honor of his daughter, it having been a matter of regret last Saturday that he could not be present. As at the first dinner party, there were about seventy guests, including many army and navy officers, diplomats and ruests from foreign lands.

Following the dinner the guests, with numerous others, went to the Breakers. the home of Mrs. Vanderbilt, grand-mother of Miss Vanderbilt, for a dance, and next Saturday night the dance that will follow the dinner at Beaulieu will at Beechwood the Astor estate, which s being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Orme

One of the most interesting entertainments ever given here in honor of the men of the service was that given this afternoon by Mrs. John H. Hanan at Castlewood, her summer home, in honor of about one hundred members of the Marine Corps. It was also the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Hanan and this added additional interest to the affair, which followed a big birthday luncheon party earlier in the afternoon. The entertainment of the marines was an out-door affair. There was a big vaudeville entertainment and besides there was dancing, two orchestras playing, and refreshments and smokes were furnished in plenty. The men were also addressed briefly along patriotic lines by Gov. R. Livingston Beeckman and by Col. H. Anthony Dyer of Providence. With the marines were Major J. M. C. Huey, their commanding officer, and Mrs. Huev. commanding officer, and Mrs. Huey, Capt and Mrs. H. Paul, Lieut and Mrs. K. O. Cuttle, Lieut. and Mrs. F. J. Campbell, Jr., Lieut. J. M. Swinnerton, Adjutant and Lieut. K. D. Ranson. The luncheon early in the afternoon was in honor of Gov. and Mrs. Beeck-man and Major and Mrs. Huey, and on the luncheon table was a large heart shaped birthday cake prettily decorated in white and pink. Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie gave a luncheon at her home on Bellevus ave-

Proffer Made to Surgeon-General Gorgas After Conference in This City.

The use of all Catholic hospitals and the services of all Catholic nursing orders in the United States were offered to the Government yesterday in a letter addressed to Surgeon-General Gorgas by Bishop Muldoon of Rockford, Iil. The offer was made at the end of a conference of Catholic clergy and laymen which has been in progress since last Wednesday at the Catholic Club in this city. Among the conferees were representatives of the dioceses of New York, Philadelptia, Boston, New Or-leans, Chicago, St. Louis and San Fran-

Bishop Muldoon's letter made it clear that the members of the various sister-hoods were prepared to volunteer for service either at home or in any part of Europe, More than 1,500 hospitals are included in the offer, while many thou-sands of trained nurses, both men and vomen, are thus made available.

Nursing orders in the Catholic Church have existed for nearly 2,000 years. The best known ones are the Sisters of Charity, the Sisterhoods of St. Joseph nd St. Francis and the monastic order The Order of St. Camillus dates from the first crusade and is notable for the fact that it is practically the parent of the Red Cross. The monks of the Order wear a white habit with a large red cross upon the breast and have been conspicuous on the battlefields of Europe conspicuous on the battlefields of Europe for many centuries. Hundreds of them have given their lives in the course of duty and history contains many records of their devotion and bravery.

Catholic nursing Orders in this country are known for the high standard of professional knowledge required of their members. In many of the Orders, novices must undergo a period of training covering several years before being al-lowed to take charge of a hospital case.

> Paris, Aug. 3 .- Prof. Richard Norton educator and organizer and head of the American Volunteer Motor Ambulance Corps which served on the French fron from 1914 until it was taken over by the American Army in September, 1917, died yesterday of meningitis after at iliness of one day.

Less than three months after the be-ginning of the war Richard Norton, to-gether with H. H. Harjes organized the American Volunteer Ambulance Corps and began work with similar corps of the British and French on the western front. In 1917 Mr. Norton received the Legion of Honor decoration in recogni-Legion of Honor decoration in recogni-tion of his services. He was thus the second American to receive this distinc-tion, Lieut. William Thaw of the Lafayette Escadrille having been made a Chevaller of the Legion of Honor in 1916. Mr. Norton became impressed with the need of more ambulances at the need of more, ambulances at the front during a visit to the American hospital at Neullly, where he saw wounded men dying because of exposure for hours and in some instances days on the battlefields.

In one of the first reports of his work made to his brother, Eliot Norton, a lawyer of 2 Rector street, he mentioned inwyer of 2 Rector street, he mentioned that the Germans were firing on Red Cross insignia, but said that this was not considered an atrocity, inasmuch as they (the Germans) considered such action justified. It is not known whether he ever changed his mind on this point. He failed to make it clear why the Germans considered it justifiable.

Discussing the many dangers attached to the work he wrote: There is also the risk of being shot at simply because one happens to carry the insignia of the Red Cross. This happened to Col. Barry (Lieut.—Col. Arthur John Barry.

Barry (Lieut Col. Arthur John Barry commissioner for the British Red Cross) and others of the corps more than once. We do not consider it in any ser atrocity, but take it for granted the Germans consider themselves justified in such action. All the men of the corps recognize the risk and are ready to take it."

Mr. Norton was born in Dresden, Ger mar, Norton was born in Dresden, ther-many, in 1872, the son of the late Charles Ellot and Susan Sedgwick Norton, dur-ing a visit of his parents to that city. The Norton family are natives of Massa-chusetts, and Charles Ellot Norton was chusetts, and Charles Enot Norton was for twenty-five years professor of the history of fine arts at Harvard. Rich-ard Norton was graduated from Har-vard in 1892. He studied afterward in Germany and at the American School of lassical Studies in Athens.

Chief of Civil Department in France Reports Enormous THOMAS T. HARAN. Activities.

From Harvey D. Gibson, American Red Cross Commissioner to France, came a cabled report to the Red Cross came a cabled report to the Red Cross yesterday which showed that during the month of July just past the American Red Cross, working in conjunction with the many activities of its civil affairs department in France, "reached" and aided the enormous total of 412,566 civilians abyessed. week ago at Youngstown, Va., after he had rescued two of his companions from a like fate. The young sallor came of fighting stock, all the members of his parents' families having done their bit during the civil war. His brother, Patrolman, T. J. Haran, formerly of the Amity street station, is a corporal of the Headquarters Company of the Fiftyeighth Infantry at Camp Stewart and three of his cousins are in the service. civilians abroad.

On the medical side there was particular activity during June, the report showed, seventeen civillan hospitals, including a new hospital for mutilated soldiers, having been opened by the Red Cross in that month, the hospitals listed having a total capacity of 1,698 beds. Also the society established sixty-one dispensaries in or near the war zone, where 45,028 children were cared for. There was a baby saving exhibit at Marseilles last month, which was attended by 22,231 persons, according to Commissioner Gibson's report. A partial list of the other great accomplishments of the society abroad which Mr. Gibson tabulates in his report includes the dispensary of additional food to 22,000 school children in Paris last month in On the medical side there was particu school children in Paris last month in the form of school lunches, the aiding of 45,000 refugees passing through Paris from May 27 to June 30, the giving out to the needy of 295,710 garments 55,547 pairs of shoes, 17,222 pieces of furniture, 60,078 pieces of bedding and household linen, $5,569 yards of cloth household linen, $5,569 yards of cloth and $68,672 pounds of food.

Wherever the American Red Cross came upon French relief societies doing effective work the American organization endeavored to work through these relief societies with the hope of increasing thereby their general efficiency and scope with financial aid. As a result the American Red Cross last month, Mr. Gibson reports, lent financial help to the amount of $21,585 francs. Also two electrical workshops were completed by the Red Cross for the French School for the Reeducation of War Cripples. There was a total increase in June of $5,553 civilians aided over the highest number civilians aided over the highest reached in any previous month a beginning of the war.

DEAF MUTE FEAST TO-DAY.

Observance Will Be Made at St. Francis Xavier.

To-day, the eleventh Sunday after Pentecost, is Ephpheta Sunday, the feast day of the patron saint of the deaf and dumb. In New York the annual ob-servance will take place at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Francis Xavier, West Sixteenth street, where the Rev. Thomas White will celebrate mass. The deaf and dumb from all over Greater New York and the suburbs make it a custom to attend this mass yearly. By doing so, after making confession and receiving communion, they gain a plen-

The observance of Ephpheta Sunday is credited to the late Rev. Michael H. McCarthy, a Jesuit, who was the pastor of the mutes. It was he who originated the custom of annually observing the day, his authority coming from the late Pope Pius X., through Archbishop Henry Moeller of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, who visited the Vatican in 1910.

Since its inauguration by Father Mc-Carthy, who had lost his hearing through illness, the custom of observing that day has spread all over the United States. The late Bishop Cusack of Al-bany was one of the foremost priests to lend aid to the movement.
